

Lifting the ban on cell phone use on airplanes once they're airborne would make me look for alternatives to air travel. Its bad enough being in other public places where some people talk non-stop about nothing on their cell phones oblivious to others around them.